drub store." Well, on our latest trip to Florida's fabulous West Coast, we stopped over again on the St. Pete Beach: on Treasure Island, and spent most of our time on the Gulf Beach itself. But we did manage to re-visit "Web City." Then we hurried along South, to the part of Florida we had missed before: the extreme Southwest coast. The wonderful Skyline Skyway takes you over Tampa Bay. It is a new project insofar as your editor is concerned. It costs $22,000,000, and involves a bridge and causeway with a total of 15.1 miles over Tampa Bay. It replaced an old ferry system. For a $1.00 toll, you can drive over one of the grandest scenic thrills in all America, and speed on down through Bradenton, Sarasota, Fort Myers, Venice, and such, and then hit the famed "Tamiami Trail" through the unbelievable Everglades and the Seminole Indian country back east to Miami. This Sunshine Skyway has 6.5 miles of hydraulic fill, 4.9 miles of bridges, and 7 miles of approach roads. The high level bridge is 4 miles long and is high enough for the largest ocean-going vessels and warships to pass under safely. I would say that the great West Coast of Florida, away down, is one of the top attractions in America, and I will have more to say about it—And that Tamiami Trail!

About The Home

By Frances Dell

There is a new look in foundation plantings popular throughout the United States. It can be summed up briefly — outdoor planter boxes and tropical plant material.

Outdoor planter boxes have become a definite part of the architectural structure of the house. Perhaps the most outstanding type is a low flagstone window box. The material used is not restricted to flagstone sections. Red or white bricks provide interesting textural contrast with junipers or other foliage plants.

From the landscape architect's point of view, foundation plants serve a three - fold purpose. They act as a screen, hiding the awkward corner where the house foundation meets the soil; they provide a tie-in between the house and garden, and are a backdrop for flowering shrubs.

One of the most interesting of the new plants used in outdoor planter boxes is the dwarf - growing podocarpus, known as the fern pine. It is a dramatic medium - sized plant that forms a dark green tracery against walls. The foliage is soft and fernlike.

Appomattox Garden Club Has 25th Anniversary Program

On January 29, the Appomattox Garden Club celebrated the occasion of its Twenty-Fifth anniversary with a dinner and program at the Elementary School cafeteria. Mrs. W. W. Burke was program chairman for the event, and Mrs. Leonard Ander-son and Mrs. R. D. Robinson served as co-chairmen for dinner arrangements. A delicious turkey dinner was served by members of the Elementary School cafeteria staff.

The speaker's table, arranged by Mrs. S. S. Slouse, was overlaid with a pink cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations in a silver container. Silver candelabra with silver and white candles were placed at either end. The anniversary program covers using a silver dog, wood design, and minature potted plants in foil-wrapped containers added to the attractiveness of the tables. Magnolia in a silver container and a lighted white candle was arranged by Mrs. C. F. James on a table in memory of deceased club members.

The favors were given through the courtesy of Moses Motor Company, Mrs. L. A. Young made corsages for all honored guests.

Many memorable events and fine accomplishments of the club were retold briefly during the program. Mrs. Frank P. Carr, Richmond, a past president of the club, led the invocation. Mrs. R. C. Hubbard, the president, gave the welcome and recognition of guests. A skit, "Past Times," written by Miss Flora Williams, was presented by the following Junior Garden Club members: Carolyn Hall, Joan Ferguson, Kathy Caldwell, Donna Gulli, Brenda Williamson, Pat Ferguson, Debbie Thomas, Jeanette Williams, Bonnie Gilbert, and Katurah Smith. Flower arrangements used in the playlet were made by Grey Holland, Mary Yancey Spencer, Susan Burke and Cynthia Richardson.

Other speakers who gave interesting highlights were: Mrs. C. T. Moses Jr., "Inspirational Times," recalling the varied programs and outstanding speakers the club has had; Mrs. Raymond Jamerson gave highlights of flower shows; Mrs. A. R. Harwood Jr., spoke of home and garden tours and other activities; Mrs. W. W. Burke recalled the many civic projects, both local and state, in which the club has taken part. Some of these were: Clean-up campaigns, Christmas decoration contests, landscaping projects, such as school grounds and library, American Legion building, railroad bank plantings, cemetery entrance improvement, planting of dogwood trees by roadside at the Surrender Grounds, donation of library books and magazines to county library, flower containers and equipment to Junior Garden Club, plants donated to Camp Pickett, and such projects of the State Garden Club Federation as Seeds for Peace, Rose Trail, Nature Camp at Waynesboro, Va., Blue Star Memorial Highway markers, and many others. Such donations were made possible by hard-working club members who sponsored many affairs to raise money. Some of these were: Jumbo Circus, Calendar Party, V. M. I. Glee Club, Fashion and Flower Shows, beauty contests, flower - arrangement lectures and demonstrations, and others.

Mrs. S. S. Slouse spoke on 'Changing Times," as illustrated in the club exhibits through the years.

Mrs. O. O. Utt, Lynchburg, president of the South Central District, Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs, was the guest speaker. She congratulated the club on its many achievements and challenged the members to further accomplishments in the wonderful work garden clubs are promoting in all areas.

Concluding the program, Miss Kate Franklin accompanied the group in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Charter members present were: Mrs. Charles F. James, Mrs. Lindsay Crawley, Miss Flora Williams, Mrs. Mildred Alvis, and Mrs. George Langran. The following past presidents were also honored: Mrs. George F. Abbitt, Jr.; Mrs. C. G. O'Brien, Mrs. A. R. Harwood, Jr.; Mrs. Frank P. Carr, Mrs. C. T. Moses, Jr.; and Mrs. Raymond Jamerson. Club officers for 1959-60 are: Mrs. R. C. Hubbard, President, Mrs. W. W. Burke, Vice-President, Mrs. R. D. Robinson, Secretary, Mrs. R. D. Robinson, Treasurer.

Five members of the present Club were given special recognition and presented small silver dogwood pins for membership in the club the entire 25 years. They were: Mrs. C. F. James, first, president of the club; Mrs. Lindsey Crawley, first secretary; Miss Flora Williams, junior garden club counselor since its organization; Mrs. Mildred Alvis and Mrs. L. A. Young, both of whom have served the club in various capacities.

The Appomattox Garden Club was organized on January 24, 1935 and became a member of the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs in 1936. The late Mrs. Amy Glenn, and also Mrs. W. P. Gills and Miss Dean Jones, were largely responsible for the organization of the club and all co-workers since have had a sense of gratitude for their vision and civic interest.

Death of Mr. Shirey

Frank Martin Shirey, 92, died at 1:30 A. M. today, at his home in Spout Spring, after an illness of several weeks.

He was born in Augusta County, Va., December 30, 1867, son of the late William H. Shirey and Lucy White Shirey. His wife was the late Mary Virginia Hawes Shirey.

He was a member of the Appomattox Court House Presbyterian Church. He had helped to organize the first Presbyterian Church in Bluefield, W. Va., and had been an elder in the Presbyterian Church for 25 years.

He is survived by six sons: Herbert H., Horace W., and George A. Shirey, all of Spout Spring; William H. Shirey, of Richmond; Frank M. Shirey, of Gloucester, Va., and Robert P. Shirey, of Lynchburg; two daughters, Miss Virginia T. Shirey, of Spout Spring, and Mrs. M. A. Mendel, of Charleston, W. Va. Also eleven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Robinson Funeral Home on Saturday at 11:00 A. M., with interment in the Presbyterian Cemetery in Lynchburg.

Spring jackets will be shorter and have straight lines to complement slim spring fashions. Some are cut shorter - even a few inches above the waistline.

The larger than head-size crown is another look in hats for spring and summer. Big crowns sweep out into wide sailor or boater shapes, some down into slanting brims.

The straw fedora is one of the new-looking straws for spring. The feminine version is small and often fashioned in dull peanut - type straws. They are trimmed to look cool and becoming, and should carry you through the summer.

A flannel ensemble will be a good investment for spring. It may include a fitted coat with a raised waistline over a matching slim skirt. A printed silk shirt will be the perfect accent to complete the costume.

The multi-strand necklace is an important look, as it fills in the neckline of an afternoon suit and picks up the look of last year's basic black.

Tapered slacks are worn for almost any occasion you can name except the most formal. The cotton and linen tapered slacks are lined to help them keep their shape.
